Message from the Chair

Life doesn't seem to get less busy. Not for individual people or for companies or for non-profit organizations. With so much activity, it's often difficult to find some time to step back and contemplate where we are all headed.

As SWRC approaches its 20th anniversary, our board – especially the governance committee – our staff and our partners managed to set aside some time to look both backward and forward in a strategic planning process. We sincerely appreciate this gift of time from everyone who participated.

With valuable assistance from Synergy Solutions, we considered where we have come from and re-visited the question of who we are and what we do. SWRC has created a new mission statement (see page 1).

Within this mission are sub-messages:

- advocate for community and environment – to us, this means that we operate with both the community's and the environment's interests in mind and that we seek to balance these two priorities.
- the word lead mandates us to get ahead of things and to not wait for issues to land on our doorstep before we take them on.
- underlying causes of waste – this speaks to the need for SWRC to go beyond recycling where we can and to work on ways to reduce waste and eliminate the forces that cause waste to be created.
- identifying opportunities, creating connections and promoting solutions – these are the ways that we will achieve the first part of the mission. All of our activities can fit into these three components.

It's obvious that the mission has created some resonance for us. We hope to make it live for the next twenty years!

SWRC is honoured to be supported by sustaining members that share our vision of a waste-free Saskatchewan. Each year they contribute $10,000 towards the vital work that the SWRC does. It is our privilege to provide our sustaining members with ongoing recognition, as well as offer them tailored services that meet our common goals. The SWRC invites you to become our next sustaining member, and expand all of our potential.

In return for their contributions, SWRC offers sustaining members opportunities for sponsorship or services that satisfy mutual priorities.

Sustaining Member Profile: SARCAN Recycling

SARCAN Recycling is a household word in Saskatchewan. They were established as a division of the Saskatchewan Association for Rehabilitation Centres in 1988 in order to operate the provincial deposit return system for beverage containers. SARCAN's recycling program is one of the most successful in North America, achieving an overall return rate of 86 percent and recycling 4.8 billion containers so far. In addition to beverage containers, SARCAN's 71 depots also accept milk containers, leftover paint and end-of-life electronics, making them a key stakeholder in Saskatchewan recycling.

"The SWRC has been a significant contributor to recycling for twenty years. They provide a gathering place for the industry and their unwavering support of waste reduction and stewardship has been invaluable."

*- Ken Homenick, Director of Operations,
SARCAN Recycling*

SARCAN has been an active participant in SWRC since its inception and has been an SWRC sustaining member since 1999. SWRC provides a mini-clipping service to SARCAN as part of their sustaining membership.

Thinking Ahead: Opportunities for New Sustaining Members

Sustaining members are key to expanding our ability to make a difference. If supporting educational activities fits your priorities, consider our Zero Waste Outreach Program.

ZERO WASTE OUTREACH PROGRAM

The program will target schools and libraries – groups with a strong interest in waste reduction education, but typically without the resources to bring in programming. Your sustaining membership will fill this need.

SWRC has developed Get Rid of Garbage – an interactive workshop on Reducing, Reusing and Recycling that is suitable for any age group. The presentation provides accurate, Saskatchewan-based information and explores questions like "What is garbage?" and "How can I avoid making it?" Participants come away with a more complete picture of waste reduction in Saskatchewan and how they can play a bigger role.

With sponsorship, we would be able to conduct the Get Rid of Garbage workshop in ten schools each year, with the goal of spreading the message to every school district in the province. We will try to arrange multiple presentations in the same school or community to have greater impact.

The Zero Waste Outreach Program sponsor will be acknowledged verbally and with a special sign on display during each workshop. They will also be acknowledged as the program sponsor in any correspondence involved in setting up the workshops, on the SWRC website and in our annual report.

Activities in 2010

The SWRC works to achieve its mission by identifying opportunities, creating connections, and promoting solutions.

IDENTIFYING OPPORTUNITIES

Our “Where do I recycle my...?” online database (sponsored by sustaining member Ministry of Environment) includes information on every recycling program, both private and municipal, for every community in the province. We update the database annually, this year with the help of summer student Tawnya Schmidt. In addition to being a valuable resource for everyone in the province, the database provides us with a tool for responding to the over 700 email and phone requests for information that we received in 2010.

CREATING CONNECTIONS

Our semi-annual Waste Minimization Forums are a great way of creating connections and keeping everyone up to date. The Spring '10 Forum, held in Regina in March and themed “Making a Molehill out of a Mountain,” included tours of Crown Shred & Recycling’s renovated MRF and new plastics recycling plant and of K-Light Recycling’s fluorescent light bulb recycling operation. Presentations covered a wide variety of topics, from recycling polystyrene to zero-waste communities to making art from recycled products. The Fall Forum, held in Humboldt, had the theme “Turning the Tide,” a reference to problems with flooding at REACT’s Humboldt landfill. Event highlights included a tour of that landfill; the story of how REACT has dealt with its challenges; presentations from Saskatchewan companies who market recycled products; and “The Clean Bin Project” – a new documentary about a Vancouver couple’s challenge to live waste-free for a year. Both Forums were well-attended, and generously supported by SaskTel (sustaining member) and our other sponsors.

...the database provides us with a tool for responding to the over 700 email and phone requests for information that we received in 2010.

Recycle Saskatchewan is a collaboration between SWRC and the provincial recycling organizations for scrap tires, end-of-life electronics, used oil materials, leftover paint and beverage containers. We work together to promote recycling. In 2010, the Recycle Saskatchewan partners had joint displays at the Regina and Saskatoon Home Shows and at the SUMA Convention. Recycle Saskatchewan also created teaching units based on the new science curriculum for Grades K-6 which are available on their website, recyclesaskatchewan.ca. SWRC coordinated four summer students for the Recycle Sask. organizations: Chelsey Bourgonje, Terri Morgan, Raeleen Viklund, and Justin Lasnier brought the recycling message to provincial parks, car shows, parades, municipal offices and retailers.

PROMOTING SOLUTIONS

Our annual Waste Minimization Awards recognize outstanding individuals, businesses and municipalities for their achievements in waste reduction. Their stories inspire others – our way of promoting others’ often very innovative solutions. The 2009 award recipients were:

- Individual Award: Ken Homenick, SARCAN Recycling, for his lifetime contribution to recycling
- Municipal Award: City of Saskatoon for its composting programs
- Partnership Award: Saskatoon Public Schools, Waste Management and Saskatoon Curbside Recycling for their expanded recycling program in the Saskatoon public schools

For more details on the awards, visit saskwastereduction.ca and click on ‘Waste Minimization Awards.’

SWRC promotes composting as a way to create a local solution for organic waste. We assist communities in establishing or troubleshooting their composting programs. We also train Master Composters, community volunteers who can deliver composting training and assistance. We coordinate the City of Saskatoon’s (sustaining member) Master Composters, whose activities included staffing displays at gardening-related events like Seedy Saturday, Gardenscapes and the Farmers’ Market. They also gave composting and workshop presentations throughout the city.

L-R: Randy Holfeld, Saskatoon Public Schools; Leon Bourner, Waste Management Canada Corp.; Nancy Heppner, Minister of Environment; and Dwight Grayston, Saskatoon Curbside Recycling.

Waste Reduction Week (WRW) is another way in which SWRC promotes solutions, along with our sister organizations across Canada. WRW is sponsored by SaskPower (sustaining member). In addition to promoting two national contests, we launched WRW at Saskatoon’s Montgomery School with the announcement of new teaching units for Kindergarten to Grade Six. Information was sent to all Saskatchewan schools, along with the national poster and information on the contests.

SWRC held an art show entitled Haven’t We Met? Everyday Items Re-imagined into Art, with pieces commissioned by Recycle Saskatchewan members and created by artists from the ReARTcycle group. We also held a business breakfast in conjunction with the Regina Chamber of Commerce, with Monica Pukas discussing SaskPower’s Zero G program.
